SSW (Self Society and World)

SSW: Self, society, and the world (15 credits)

Students are required to take at least 9 credits of HUL courses in this category. The rest of the credits are student choice from among the courses in this category. The courses may include undergraduate level courses from the Department of Management Sciences and School of Public Policy. Guidelines for consideration of courses in this category will be outlined by a committee set up for this purpose. This standing committee will also decide whether current and new courses that are offered in future fall within the SSW category.
